

What's the aim of the Cautious Plan and who is it for?

The aim of the Cautious Plan is to achieve returns above the UK inflation rate. Investing always involves some level of risk, and movement up and down in value is to be expected. With the Cautious Plan, our aim is to limit the extent of these movements, but there is still a risk that you may get back less than invested.

The Cautious Plan is suitable for investors who aim to grow their money slowly and steadily, and are happy to take on small amounts of risk, as they are more focused on preventing losses than making large gains.

Investing should be part of a long-term savings strategy and whilst money can be withdrawn at any time, investing for less than 5 years is unlikely to be appropriate.

What makes the Cautious Plan different?

The example below shows a typical mix of investments for a Cautious Plan, but it can hold between 0% and 20% high-risk investments (Commodities, Emerging Market Bonds, Private Equity, Shares and Property), with the remainder in low-risk investments (Bonds, Cash, and Cash Equivalents).

The chart above shows the range for the Cautious Plan, which can include a minimum of 80% low risk assets and a minimum of 0% high risk assets.

Benchmarking

The Cautious Plan performance is measured against the SONIA interest rate benchmark. This is effectively the base rate set by the Bank of England, but is based on actual transactions and reflects the average of the interest rates that banks pay to borrow money from other financial institutions.
